

THE IMPACT OF BULLETS ON BALLOTS

Cigdem Unal
ciu2@pitt.edu

- Does terrorism affect citizens' participation in elections and if it does, how? Positively or negatively?
- Based on my research on 51 countries from 1970s to today: It depends.
- Depends on the level of trust in democracy in the targeted country.
- Following a terrorist attack, electoral turnout increases only if people trust their democratic institutions.